

Optimal supply provided by high quality double pumping systems with appropriately dimensioned.

Fully automatic control and monitoring in keeping with the high standards of medical engineering make for constant operability. Installation is effected by skilled and experienced Dräger engineers.

The DrägerService specialists are reliable experts in their field. The concept of the system allows servicing without interrupting its operation.

